I. Guidance on Science for Policy Activities: Enabling Dialogues for Decision-Making

Thanks to the support of Science Europe's (SE) Working Group for the Green and Digital Transition, the last year's "Science Policy in Action. Insights for the Green and Digital Transition", report was turned into practical guidelines, as a result, SE published its so called "Guidance on Science for Policy Activities" on 4 April 2024.

The importance of science in providing rigorous evidence of the challenge at hand, enabling a better understanding of the problem and assessing the likely implications of available options is growing along with its role in decision-making by improving its the quality, effectiveness and efficiency. To get a clearer understanding of the context, this Guidance provides definition, principles, actions and examples for Science Europe Members who want to engage in research-policy dialogues.

The full report is attached to this email.

For more information, please contact Dr Nicola Francesco Dotti (nicola.dotti@scienceeurope.org).

II. 13th ERION EARMA Thematic Group Event: Working for the best... But Ready for the Worst

ERION is the Ethics and Research Integrity Officer Network within EARMA and acts as a stakeholder for the European Commission DG R&I Ethics Sector. The thematic group plays a central role not only in promoting good scientific practice, but also in implementing policies and procedures to deal with possible cases of research misconduct or, more constructively, to prevent questionable practices.

The current event will cover general aspects, including the European framework and proposals for a coordinated approach, to very specific issues that challenge good practice in the field of scientific publications, predatory journals, and AI.

Date: 15 May 2024, 9:00-17:00 CET

Location: EARMA Office (Rue des Colonies 56, Brussels, Belgium)

III. Nominations for 2023 TÜBA Academy Prizes

Organized by the Turkish Academy of Science (TÜBA), the TÜBA Academy Prizes annually award nominated scientists in one of the following categories: Basic and Engineering Sciences, Health and Life Sciences and Social Sciences and Humanities. One prize is awarded in each category to scientists with original, leading and path-breaking works in their fields related with Türkiye or Turkish issues, meaning those who work in Türkiye and/or study Turkish. Nominations are made by TÜBA members, science academies and inter-academy organizations and other science institutions which are related with TÜBA.

Deadline for nomination: 3 May 2024

IV. 2024 International Day of Immunology Webinar: Immunity Through the Ages – Navigating the Science of Aging and Immunology

The International Union of Immunological Societies (IUIS) along with the European Federation of Immunological Societies (EFIS) invite all international societies to join in the effort to increase global awareness of the benefits of immunology research and honour the Day of Immunology on April 29. In this occasion, experts in immunology will explore the dynamic relationship between aging and the immune system. Several presentations will be held, such as “Decoding the contribution of the Immune System to aging”; “Value of maternal immunization and its influence on neonatal immune responses”; “Shaping of immune systems in human newborns by environmental exposures” etc. Then the webinar will be continued with a panel discussion and closing remarks.

Date: 29 April 2024, 14:00-16:30 CET

V. MSCA Postdoctoral Fellowships 2024 Call Information Webinar: Session 1 & Session 2

The UK Research Office (UKRO), in its capacity as UK National Contact Point (NCP) for the Horizon Europe Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions (MSCA), is holding two information webinars for organisations and individuals interested in applying to the MSCA Postdoctoral Fellowships 2024 call. The two webinars will provide attendees with a comprehensive overview of the 2024 Marie Skłodowska-Curie Actions (MSCA) Postdoctoral Fellowship Call. They will provide attendees with all the information needed to submit a successful application, including the MSCA eligibility criteria, available budget, and submission and evaluation rules, as well as practical advice on proposal writing.

The webinars are primarily aimed at researchers in the UK academic and non-academic organizations, and those who intend to apply with a UK host institution.

Date: 14 and 15 May 2024

VI. Early Bird tickets for the Falling Walls Science Summit 2024

The Falling Walls Foundation invites interested parties to the 16th Falling Walls Science Summit, a gathering which serves as a vital forum for the world's scientific community, providing a platform for collaborative discourse on pressing global challenges. Participants engage with ground-breaking science, over a course of three days to discuss global issues and gain insights from keynote presentations recognized as the Falling Walls Breakthroughs of the Year 2024 on 9 November. Additionally, the Pitch Day, held on 7 November, features presentations from emerging talents, whereas the Circle Day on 8 November, is made up of expert-led discussions and debates.

Moreover, inquiries are welcomed regarding potential partnerships aimed at enhancing the Falling Walls Science Summit's reach and impact. For further information on partnership opportunities, please email summit@falling-walls.com.

Date: 7-9 November 2024

Place: Berlin, Germany, exact venue TBD

Early Bird Ticket offer, available until 1 May 2024.
